

My name is Jacqien. I am in the 4th grade at Fort Howard Elementary school and I really like books and I think you should too! Books help you get smarter. Books also help you with projects like biographies. There are many biography books with an abundance of information about interesting people like Barack Obama. According to the book Barack Obama, Out of Many, One, Barack Obama was born in Hawaii on August 4, 1961 Isn't that cool!

There are so many different types of books you can read. You can read chapter books, picture books, or read graphic novels. Honestly, I like graphic novels better than picture and chapter books. My favorite graphic novel is Dog Man, Grime and Punishment.

Maybe you can read chapter books all the time! Or maybe you can prefer challenging books! Either way, if you don't read books then you can't grow your brain as much! Did you know that there are more than 136 million books in the world? That's a lot of books to help your brain grow! I think reading at home is epic! When you read at home you get a lot of knowledge and you can share your books with your family!
